

The Life Cycle of a Conifer

The life cycle of a conifer, such as a pine tree, includes the production of two types of spores by the sporophyte. These spores develop into the male and female gametophytes.